

Asa Gray, "A pilgrimage to Torreya"

1875

1 vol. (0.1 linear feet)

Call no.: MS 419 bd

Read collection overview Collection overview

The great botanist and early supporter of evolutionary theory, Asa Gray, toured the Florida Panhandle during the spring of 1875, making "a pious pilgrimage to the secluded native haunts of that rarest of trees, the Torreya taxifolia." His journey took him along the Apalachicola River in search of Torreya, a native yew prized by horticulturists.

This slender manuscript account was prepared by Gray for publication in the American Agriculturist (vol. 43). In a light and graceful way, his "pilgrimage" describes the difficulties of travel in the deep south during the post-Civil War years and his exploits while botanizing. The text is edited in Gray's hand and varies slightly from the published version.

See similar SCUA collections:

Botany and horticulture

Background on Asa Gray

The great botanist and early supporter of evolutionary theory, Asa Gray, toured the Florida Panhandle during the spring of 1875, making "a pious pilgrimage to the secluded native haunts of that rarest of trees, the Torreya taxifolia." His journey took him along the Apalachicola River in search of Torreya, a native yew prized by horticulturists.

Scope of collection

This slender manuscript account was prepared by Gray for publication in the American Agriculturist (vol. 43). In a light and graceful way, his "pilgrimage" describes the difficulties of travel in the deep south during the post-Civil War years and his exploits while botanizing. The text is edited in Gray's hand and varies slightly from the published version.

Administrative information

Access

The collection is open for research.

Language:

English

Provenance

Provenance unrecorded.

Copyright and Use (More information)

Cite as: Asa Gray, "A pilgrimage to Torreya" (MS 419 bd).
Special Collections and University Archives, University of Massachusetts Amherst Libraries.

Processing Information

Processed by I. Eliot Wentworth, Dec. 2015.

Search terms

Subjects

- Botanists
- Florida--Description and travel--19th

- century
- Yew

Link to similar SCUA collections

Botany and horticulture

154 Hicks Way : Amherst, Mass. 01003-9275 : Ph. 413-545-2780